

Crossfield Fusion Ltd, Harwell, Oxfordshire

Title: Project Manager

Job Location : Harwell, Oxfordshire, UK

Salary: Depending on experience up to £40k pa for the duration of the project – part-time working possible for suitable candidates

Benefits: 23 days holiday (excluding public holidays), share options.

The Role

The role involves managing of an Innovate project the company has received, the project started 1/5/20 and is due to run until end July 2021.

This position involves the ability to operate within a matrix and the ability to interact and communicate effectively with other groups including: engineering, finance, production and partners. This person must have the ability to work effectively with technical staff and management. Excellent interpersonal and communications skills are a must for this position.

An ideal candidate will be self-motivated with excellent written and verbal communication, time management and problem solving and leadership skills. Must be a team player.

The Company

Crossfield Fusion Ltd is developing a novel compact fusion reactor targeting carbon free heat and power generation. The company is adopting a new approach to fusion based on a patented technology called Epicyclotron (Pat US8138692) and was established in 2019.

Key Requirements

- Project management experience, successfully supporting cross-functional teams in a scientific environment ideally with Physical sciences background
- Experience managing multiple simultaneous projects, working with internal and external stakeholders and clients, and translating complex projects into tasks and dependencies.
- Time management and organisational skills, and experience in delivering to strict deadlines with a high degree of independence.
- Experience of using remote collaboration tools and digital project management software (e.g. Zoom, Slack or similar).

Contact Details

careers@crossfieldfusion.com